DESERTED WIFE IN DIRE WANT

One Child Has Had Pneumonia.

Mrs. Josephs Says Her Church Refused Adequate Help.

Bishop Boud Declares That the Ward Has Helped Her and Will Help Her.

If the well-dressed crowd that surge up and down Main street and in and out of shops, chatting and smiling, could know that today, within a short distance, a mother, two little children, and a dangerously sick baby, are in positive want for food, what would they do? That is the case of Mrs. Emma Josephs and her children, living at 42 Depot avenue. At the appproach of Christmas, when most mothers are planning how they will fill the stockings of their little ones, this mother is wondering how she can fill the mouths of her children, even from one day to another. And with it she tells a story of those who have failed her in her hour of greatest need, the members of the church she was "born into."

Dingy Room Her Home.

Last night she sat in the dingy room she calls home, with its bare floors and its curtainless window. Her two little girls, one of them just recovering from a serious illness, and her baby boy, of whose life the doctors despaired, and who is still very sick, were in one cor-ner of the room asleep.
"It is about nine months ago that "It is about nine months ago that my husband deserted me." she said. "He had never supported me the way he should have done since we were married. You see, he hated children, and when my bables were born he begged me to give them away; but there is no man on earth I would do that for. Since he has left me he has sent the children a nickle or a dime in a letter. Beyond that he has done nothing. I do not know where he is.

Forgot How to Sleen

Forgot How to Sleep. "I took in washing to support myself and children until the baby took so sick. He had pneumonia. But some of the people I wash for thought it might be diphtheria, and so they took their washes away from me. Perhaps it was just as well, for from that time I hardly had the child out of my arms, and the doctors said that it was my watching him that saved him. Night after night I sat with him, and I had no sleep for so long that when I could take it I had to have something to make me sleep. And not a woman in make me sleep. And not a woman in this ward volunteered to relieve me during six weeks. I was a Mormon, but I do not think I care to belong to the same church with such people.

"During that time some days we had nothing to eat, and I was almost in despair, yet no one came to me. At last I appealed to the ward. They sent me some flour and a bottle of preserves. We lived on that until it was gone and then the county sent me $5 to help pay and some flour. Again we lived on that, but when that was gone, I felt ashamed to ask the county for more, so I appealed to the church. They sent back word that there was nothing in the ward for me. Then someone else corrected that and said there was and that they would send something, that was a long time ago, and nothing has been sent. "I ssked one of the Mormon sisters to sit with me only one night, when the doctors thought my baby was dying, and she refused. I then asked her who I could get. She answered that she knew of no one.

Served Her Right.

"The teachers-ward teachers-came to investigate my circumstances about this time, and when they found my condition, they told me it served me right for not marrying in the church -my husband is not a Mormon. They did nothing for me.

Resented the Telephone.

"One of them wanted to know how it was that a poor woman like me could afford to have a telephone. They sneered about it and did not wait to hear how it is that I have one. At the time the Consolidated Oil company was robbed my uncle from the coast was visiting me. He was so impressed by the occurrence that he insisted on putting a 'phone in my house, for which he paid, for he said a woman alone with three little ones, as I am, is in danger. I do not know what I would have done without it. I cannot leave the house and that has been my only means of calling a doctor.

Two Weeks to Move.

I cannot tell how depressed I have real total fell how depressed I have felt today. The landlord came to tell me that he has sold this place, and that I have two weeks to get out. I have no money to pay the rent and no money to pay for removal. We have nothing to eat in the house and the nothing to eat in the house and the baby is too sick for me to leave him to hunt for work. I had Drs. Wilcox, Odell and Walte all here at one time, and the child nearly died. The bitter-est part of this to me is that the ward has refused me when I asked for They said I was not grateful, but I am, only I cannot gush over people, and when I say I am grateful it means everything. The county has been kind to me, but I do not like to appeal for more help.

Help From Methodists.

"And another thing. It was not help Mormons that I got, but from the Methodist church, during the long illness of my children. Think of it' The greatest kindness has come to me from outsiders. I only wish I could get to working again, for it hurts me to see my children go to bed crying from hunsomething for her, and the county doc-tor was there when I attended her chil-dren. You would better go and see for yourself her condition. Imagine a hus-band who would send five and ten cents per month to his starving family!"

The Bishop's Statement. J. W. Boud, bishop of the ward, was sked concerning the woman's story.

He replied: He replied:

"What she says is false. The church did help her, and a woman of our church went there and helped to nurse her baby during the sickness of her two children. Not only have we assisted her, but we are willing to assist her

"Is it true that you said there was nothing in the ward for her and her children?

"No, it is not. I was not at home when the woman's little girl came to my wife, but as soon as I came I sent the ward teachers to investigate"
"But that was some time ago, was it

"Yes, but I ordered them to have some provisions sent to her."
"They were never sent, though, were they' "I understand not, for Mrs. Joseph sent an insulting letter to those who hold the funds, as she was very indig-nant at not receiving attention at once."

Does Not Believe It.

"Is it true that the provisions were refused to her on the grounds that she married a non-Mormon?"

"I do not believe that story. It is true that provisions were refused her by those who take charge of them because she had no order from me. Like any other well-regulated business, the work is systemized and she needed an order from me. I am sorry that she saw fit to allow this trouble published. I do not know the woman personally. We shall look into her case at once."

The Insulting Letter.

When Mrs. Josephs was asked about the insulting letter she said: "Yes; I did write a letter to the woman who keeps the provisions, but I did not know it was insulting. I simply wrote to her begging her to do something for me. I told her I had asked for help time and again and it had not come. I said in that letter that I would leave it with the Lord whether she had proved a true sister in the church to me when she could allow my little children to cry for bread. If that is insulting, I did not know it. I want to say that the doctors and the county were very good to me, and if it had not been for them and the help of outsiders, I do not know and the help of obtsiders, I do not know what I would have done, nor what I shall do in the future, unless some of them help me. I can not look to the Mormon's for any help, for they have failed me in my greatest need."

MADE NO IDLE BOAST.

Frank Anneberg Shows His Ability to Clean Out Saloon.

The combined efforts of three police offiers were required to lodge Frank Anneerg, a fighting drunk, in the "Jag-room" of the city jail. Before he was finally subdued he had bitten a piece out of one man's ear, walloped two policemen and fought himself free from a crowd of nearly twenty-five men. By the time he reached police headquarters he was covered with blood and was considerably britised up.

When officers Corless and Emil Johnson arrived in the patrol wagon. Anneherg was whiling away the idle moments by gnawing at his opponents ear. A crowd of persons had gathered and were valuly attempting to rescue Anneherg's victim.

Patrolman Jack Corless seized the belligerent inebriate by the neck and attempted to drag him away. But he would not budge. As a last resort the officer was compelled to resort to "flie-jlisu" tactics. Anneherg finally relaxed his hold and was landed in the patrol wagon.

On the way to the station he attempted to beat up the two policemen. He struck Corless on the jaw, but the latter countered with a joit that put Anneherg to the floor with a thud. At headquarters he started another rough house and the combined efforts of three officers were required to land him in the drunk house.

Anneherg was bleeding profusely and had his face considerably bruised at the close of the excitement. He will be charged with being drunk and fighting.

FINN STABBED THE POLICEMAN

Murderous Attack at Bingham.

Officer W. W. Plays Is Confined to His Bed.

Jacob Kass, His Assailant Will Be Tried for Attempt on His Life.

Jacob Kass tried to murder Policeman W. W. Plays at Bingham the other night and is now in the county jail awaiting trial in the district court on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The officer is still confined to his bed with a four-inch flesh wound in his hip. Marshal Williams of Bingham brought Kass into the county jail yesterday afternoon.

A terrific affray in a Finnish saloon preceded the attempt to kill. Knives were used freely and one Finnish smelter hand was left in a somewhat serious condition. Plays ran into the place and learned that the aggressor in the affray, the man who had done the stab-bing, had left the saloon. The officer at once started out to find him. Meantime Kass was hiding beside the door, knife in hand.

When Plays emerged the Finn leaped on him and stabled flercely athim. For-tunately the knife went too low and en-tered the officer's leg. Blood spurted from the wound, but in spite of this the officer kept on fighting. He drew his revolver and after he had beaten the ugly Finn to the ground, smashing his weapon in so doing, he managed to make the arrest. By the time this was over both men were decidedly the worse for wear, Plays being very weak from the blood he had lost.

Kass was arraigned before Justice of the Peace George E. Lee yesterday morning and during the afternoon was taken to the county Jall by Marshal Williams of Bingham. The prisoner is going to stand trial and has entered a plea of not guilty.

Edgington and Sparks stole a rig on the National holiday. They did not have any turkey, but, thinking that chicken would do instead if they had enough, they went on a foraging expedition. They already had gathered in a jar of wine with the buggy. They investigated a chicken coop belonging to John A. Williams of 177 Third street.

Unfortunately for them they left a trail behind so they were followed to their room. They were arrested by Officers Seager and Taylor,

Chinese Minister Discusses China

She Stands for Peace, With No Effective Army and No Battleships

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17 .- Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister to the United States, tonight addressed the American Academy of Political and Social Science on the subject "China's Traditional Policy.' Among other things, ne smid:

"For 2000 years China has not swerved

"For 2000 years China has not swerved an lota from steadily pursuing a consistent policy of peace. This may be put down to the fact that all the men who have played a prominent part in Chinese affairs have invariably been true followers of Confucius.

"It may be urged that the Chinese people have brought much unnecessary sufferings upon themselves by their firm adherence to the principles of peace. It is true that they have left their country virtually exposed to foreign invasions. They maintain no effective army, they have no battleships. These weaknesses are patent to all, But China's strength does not lie so near the surface.

"They may be wanting in those showy qualities of mind and body which the people of the West admire and cultivate, but they are endowed to an eminent degree with those hardy virtues which tell most in the struggle for existence, namely, patience, industry and thrift.

"With a view of reducing the possibility of war as much as possible arbitration is the method now best recommended for the settlement of international disputes. This is a step in the right direction. But as long as nations are armed to the teeth there is always a strong temptation to test the effectiveness of the weapons they possess. As long as there is powder in the magazine, there is always a danger of an explosion from a flying spark."

The women surged about her, reaching over each other, clutching madly for the highest numbers. Whereupon Mrs. Ostrom promptly refused to have any prize.
